Bylaws

May 15, 2017

Article I. Name

The name of the corporation shall be Harvard Alumni in Animal Health, Inc. (the “Corporation”).

Article II. Purpose

Harvard Alumni in Animal Health is organized for charitable and educational purposes as a Shared Interest Group (SIG) of the Harvard Alumni Association (HAA). Its aim is to create a community of alumni/ae who are interested in the many facets of animal health around the world, to connect alumni/ae with similarly interested students and faculty, to bring visibility to Harvard graduates engaged in this field, and promote the betterment of global animal health through activities and collaborations. The focus on this group would not be limited to a specific species, profession, or agenda, but rather seek to include all Harvard alumni who are interested in any aspect of animal health as well as the sociological, biological, biomedical, ethical, and economical connections between humans and animals. This SIG does not advocate for a specific ideology or political or cultural agenda, and welcomes all points of view while insisting members remain respectful of opinions that may differ from their own. Our initial goals include developing a database of Harvard alumni/ae who are currently working or otherwise interested in animal health fields and then to establish a communication network through which members can network, exchange ideas and collaborate on issues relevant to animal health.

Article III. Place of Incorporation

The principal office of the Corporation shall be within the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
